REPUBLICANS GOT BIG CROWD LAST NIGHT AT EMMA SQUARE RALLY

Oratory, Music and Moving Pictures Attracted Over Two Thousand—Some Good Campaign Talk Presented.

A crowd of over two thousand persons was massed in front of the bandstand at the Emma Square rally of the Republicans last night, and oratory, music, and moving pictures held the people there until nearly eleven o'clock. It was a good natured crowd, ready to cheer when called upon by the chairman, Billy Hoogs, but not very demonstrative on its own account. The speaking was good, the music of the Kaai order, and the pictures pleased the crowd.

A. G. M. Robertson made the principal speech of the evening, dealing with the situation on the mainland to show that Bryan's chances of election were slim indeed, and that those who wanted to be in the winning bandwagon had best vote the Republican ticket on Tuesday.

The program arranged was shot to pieces, for some reason, and some of the speakers advertised did not appear at all.

The Martyr's Appeal.

John W. Cathcart, the first speaker, climbed up on the martyr's stump and told the people of the way he was being abused by the Advertiser. He said nothing that he has not said before and the natural curiosity of the crowd as to why he doesn't pay what he owes remains unsatisfied. He apologized for speaking so much about himself and brought his speech to a close without opening several of the pages in his biography.

Republican Benefits.

John C. Lane, the coming Mayor, spoke briefly of the benefits which had followed the carrying out of the Republican plans to give county government to the islands, and predicted further advantages from the inauguration of municipal government, provided the affairs of the municipality were placed in safe Republican hands. He asked support for himself as the Republican candidate for Mayor.

Goliath von Holt.

Harry von Holt, who received the usual good reception, announced that he had just discovered that the biblical Goliath had been bested because he had been a Democrat. He, the speaker, was a Goliath of a different kind and would prove it on November 3. He asked for support as a Republican from Republicans. He concluded in a witty speech in Hawaiian and topped off his remarks with a Portuguese quotation.

Cheers for Kuhio.

Kuhio received three hearty cheers when he was called upon. He made an excellent and well-reasoned-out address both in English and Hawaiian and was applauded whenever he made a telling point. He stated that McCandless was appealing to the people on an impossible issue, that of the distribution of land at the rate of 160 acres to each citizen, making promises on this that were not worth a hill of beans.

The speaker answered the argument of the Democrats that Senator Perkins was the one to be thanked for the appropriations for Hawaii, explaining that the Senator had been a good friend of Hawaii and had done much in the Senate. The items for the appropriations originated in the House, however, before going to the Senate. "Now, I have no Senator, you have no Senator. How do I get those items passed in the Senate?" asked Kuhio. "I go to Senators Perkins and I go to my other friends in the Senate and the items are passed. That is the way I work in Washington. I do not get up and make hot-air speeches like I do here, but I make friends and my friends help me."

The Delegate spoke of the efforts he was making to secure the Portuguese rights to the lands on Punchbowl. He said that he had not yet received the joint resolution passed last year in the local Legislature, but when it did arrive he would present it. He believed that the Punchbowl Portuguese were entitled to the first preference to the lands and ought to have it. The difference between what he wanted and what the Democrats wanted was that he wished to be able to amend the laws through the local Legislature and the Democrats wanted to have them made at Washington, so that a man in New York and a man in Missouri would have as much right to the Punchbowl lands as the men who had built their homes there.

The speaker urged the election of the Republican Senators and Representatives especially, telling those in the crowd who might be soreheads to take it out by scratching him, although any voter who failed to be satisfied with what he had done and who would vote against him on the record he had made did not, in his opinion, deserve to have a vote. "Knife the Delegate if you

WANT, GREELMAN TO VISIT US

Promotionists Will Ask Editor of Pearson's Magazine to Drop In.

The Promotion Committee members yesterday, at their regular meeting, adopted a suggestion made some time ago by former Assistant Secretary of State Loomis, that an invitation be sent to the editor of Pearson's magazine, James Greelman, to visit Hawaii and learn something of the beauties of the place to put before his readers. It was resolved to send an invitation and the secretary was instructed to prepare and forward it.

This was the principal item of business done by promotionists yesterday, outside of regular routine work.

One feature of the minutes read at the meeting was the introduction into them of the detailed report published in the Advertiser of the address made at the previous meeting by Commissioner Newell. The Promotion Committee has now got in line with several other organizations of the community in placing the Advertiser reports of their meetings among their official records.

Interesting Weekly Letter.

The weekly letter of Secretary Wood is of especial interest this week. He says:

Secretary Wood's Letter.

By the Alameda, we received a very large mail from the Coast, letters from tourists, home-seekers, investors, etc. To all of these, replies went forward yesterday. Altogether, we forwarded by the Alameda, upwards of 3000 pieces of matter, including letters, pamphlets, papers and circulars.

A great many acknowledgments of the receipts of our map, "The Crossroads of the Pacific" are to hand.

All speak in warmest terms of praise of the map and state that they will give it either wall or window space.

As one prominent railway man writes, "Honolulu certainly seems to dominate the Pacific."

Celebration Suggested.

While the work of the Hawaii Promotion Committee in advertising the advantages and attractions of Hawaii is meeting with gratifying success, yet there remains much to be done and upon reading the letters above referred to and the statements of Rear Admiral Hillyard, as appearing in recent California papers, that Pearl Harbor Naval Station would be completed early in 1912, it occurred to me that an effort should be made to fittingly celebrate this most important event and I would suggest, at this time, that the Hawaii Promotion Committee recommend to the citizens of the Territory, that through their different organizations, commercial and other, they urge upon Gov-

DEMOCRATS AT WAIKANE AND LAIE

Luau at McCandless' Place on the Windward Side.

The Democrats held a great rally at Laie last night, according to reports received at Democratic headquarters by telephone. Nearly the entire population along the line of the Koolau railroad was in attendance, for arrangements had been made with the railroad to run special trains to bring the people to the meeting and to take them home again. It was planned this way so as to have one big meeting instead of a number of smaller ones at different points along the route.

Speeches were made by all the candidates. L. L. McCandless spoke principally on the land question, drawing some of his illustrations from the local experience of the people of that region in regard to public land matters. At Waikane on Wednesday evening there was the biggest luau and political meeting, it is said, that has ever been held in that part of Koolau. Both luau and meeting were very successful affairs. They were held at L. L. McCandless' Waikane homestead and the candidate for Congress was at once the host and one of the principal speakers.

Speeches were made by Fern, Trent, Jarrett, Harvey, Watson, Edings, Moore, Lowe and Anderson, and all the candidates for Supervisors and for Representatives from the Fifth Representative District.

The campaigning party are traveling by trolley and meetings are being held throughout the day at intervals along the route. Today meetings will be held at Kahuku and at points between there and Waiolua, and at Waiolua a meeting will be held in the evening at which all the candidates will speak.

Saturday night a part of the candidates will speak at a meeting at Waiolua, and a part of them, together with the legislative candidates from the Fourth Representative District, will speak at a meeting at Kakaia.

The Democrats will close their campaign with a meeting Monday night at Palace Square.

DAVID STARR JORDAN PRAISES HAWAII-NEI

Professor David Starr Jordan, of the Leland Stanford University, has written a short but strong article on "The Advantages of Hawaii" from the standpoint of a scientist, which will be the leading article in a pamphlet being printed for distribution among the members of the American Society for the Advancement of Science. It is hoped that this society will agree upon Honolulu as a place for holding the summer convention of the members in 1910 and the pamphlet is expected to be of benefit to Hawaii in this particular. Among the other articles will be History, W. D. Alexander; Climatology, W. B. Stockman; Geology, G. H. Perkins; Botany, Jared G. Smith; Zoology, W. A. Bryan; Entomology, R. L. C. Perkins; Marine Biology, C. M. Cooke Jr.; The Bishop Museum, W. T. Brigham; Agriculture, E. V. Wilcox; Industrial Chemistry, N. Deerr; Agricultural Chemistry, W. P. Kelley; Education, W. H. Babbitt; Sanitation, L. E. Cofer; Travel, A. H. Ford, and Transportation, L. A. Thurston. Maps and other matter will also be used.

DR. COFER ORDERED TO WASHINGTON

Dr. L. E. Cofer, Chief Quarantine Officer, received notices yesterday from Washington that he had been detached from service here and was ordered to report for duty at Washington. This news will be received with general regret in Hawaii and especially in Honolulu.

Dr. Cofer has been elsewhere on duty on more than one occasion since being sent here as head of the quarantine service, but this is the first time he has been definitely detached. It is not known who will succeed him here. He sails for the mainland on November 13.

Vessels of the Canadian-Australian and Union lines calling here will not stop at Tahiti in future. Passengers from San Francisco for Wellington will be taken to Tahiti by the Oceanic line steamers, and thence to Wellington by Union steamers plying between Tahiti and Wellington.

CLASSIFICATION OF VOTERS IN THE COUNTY

At Republican headquarters the office staff has compiled an interesting table, showing the nationalities of the registered voters by districts and precincts. One feature of this list shows that three Japanese-American citizens will be able to vote. The totals in the county show that the Hawaiian voters outnumber all others by 1561. In the Fourth, the Hawaiians number within seventeen of all others, the figures standing: Hawaiians, 1611; all others, 1628. In the Fifth, naturally the Hawaiian vote is largely in excess of all others, the totals being: Hawaiians, 2383; all others, 805.

The table, in full, shows the following:
